

Palau Protective Optical Cable Manufacturer

AI Overview

The primary entity managing and procuring protective optical cables in Palau is the Belau Submarine Cable Corporation (BSCC), supported by international manufacturers like NEC, Far East Cable, and ETK Kablo.

Belau Submarine Cable Corporation (BSCC)

The BSCC is a state-owned corporation responsible for Palau's submarine fiber optic network. Established in 2016, BSCC manages both the Palau Cable 1 (PC1) and Palau Cable 2 (PC2) systems, connecting Palau to Guam, Southeast Asia, and the U.S. mainland. PC2 is a 110 km subsea cable using 100 Gbps optical wavelength multiplexing, ensuring high-capacity, reliable communications for Palau. BSCC oversees procurement, installation, and maintenance of these protective optical cables, often sourcing from international suppliers like NEC for submarine cable systems .

International Cable Manufacturers Serving Palau

- NEC Corporation: Supplier for both PC1 and PC2, providing submarine optical cables and related connectivity components .
- Far East Cable Co., Ltd.: Offers a full range of submarine and terrestrial optical cables, including ultra-low loss fibers and high-capacity protective cables suitable for offshore and deep-sea applications. Their products support long-term reliability and high-speed transmission for projects like Palau's submarine networks .
